I am applying for a 2010-2011 S-STEM Scholarship as a First-Year or Transfer Student.

For purposes of this application, a first-year student is one who is enrolling at Rocky Mountain College as a full-time student for the first time, and who is not transferring credits from another post-secondary educational institution. Students who have completed coursework at Rocky Mountain College while still in high school and who have not enrolled at another institution since high school graduation are considered to be first-year students. A transfer student is one who is enrolling at Rocky Mountain College as a full-time student who is transferring credits from another post-secondary educational institution, regardless of whether or not a degree was earned.
